2005 STANISLAUS AND SAN JOAQUIN COUNTIES MIDSEASON PROCESSING TOMATO VARIETY TRIAL FIELD DAY

WEDNESDAY    SEPTEMBER 7, 2005    10:00 AM-12:00 PM

This year's trial consists of 16 varieties planted with replication and 13 varieties planted without replication. The trial was established in Westley on May 18, 2005 with Bill Cox (Cox and Perez Farms). Seedlings of each variety were double-row transplanted on 66" wide beds. The in-row plant spacing was approximately 12". The trial will be ready for harvest in several weeks.

Although this was an excellent disease year, the trial was little affected. Bindweed, however, continues to be problematic despite serious weeding efforts.

The trial is located in Westley off of Hwy 33. If you are coming from the south on Hwy 33 continue north at the Hwy 33 and Grayson/Howard Roads 4-way stop. The field will be east of the railroad track and approximately 1.0 m north of E. West Stanislaus Road. Look for the field day sign along the roadside and proceed in a northeasterly direction to the trial site. (See map next page for details)

For those traveling from the north, exit Hwy 132 by taking the Hwy 33 exit (South). Continue south on Hwy 33 for approximately 5.25 miles. The field is east of the railroad track. Look for the field day sign along the roadside and proceed in a northeasterly direction to the trial site. (See map next page for details)

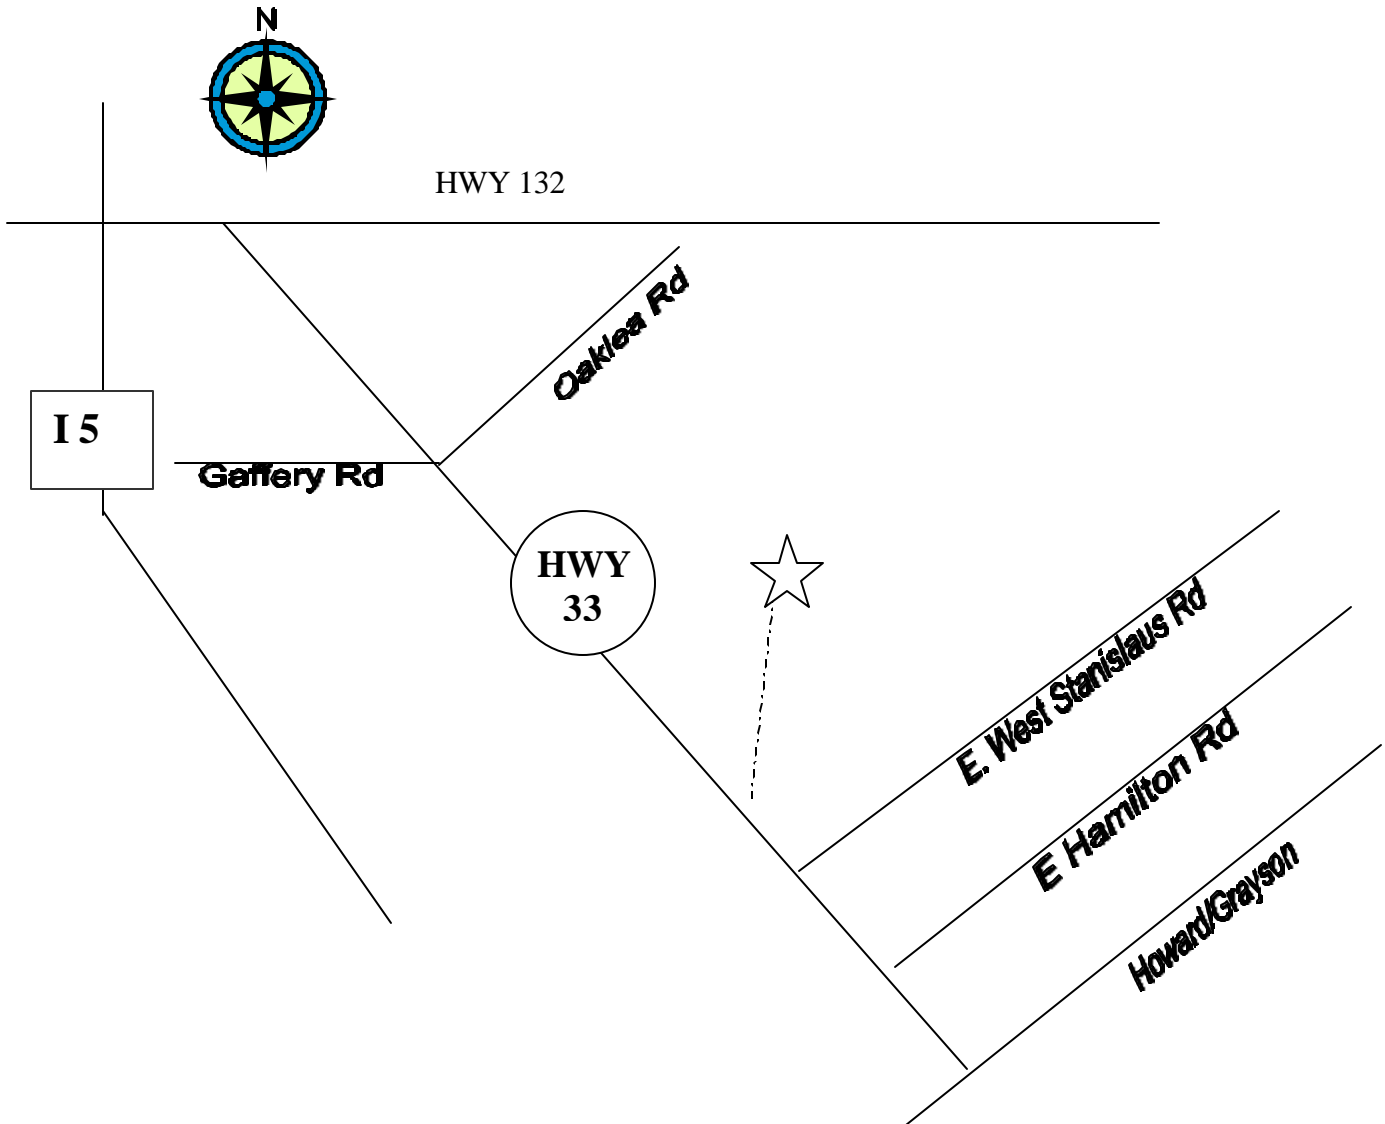

Looking forward to seeing you there.
